According to police reports, Webb was proceeding down Marietta street in the direction of town. Smoak, it was said, was on his way to work at the Southern shops when the cars collided. The force of the blow overturned the sedan and jammed the truck between a telephone pole and the wall of the Atlanta Plow Company plant. The truck was telescoped.

Garrett was caught in the truck under the dashboard, and it was necessary to hook the rear of the truck to a street car in order to dislodge the body. Webb was thrown clear, and attaches at the hospital said his injuries were not dangerous. X-ray pictures were being made late Tuesday night of Smoak for possible fractures of the skull.

ZEBULON, Ga., Aug. 2.—Declaring that his opponent, Charles R. Crisp, had the most elaborate campaign organization ever seen in Georgia and that this campaign organiza-tion had more heads than the "hydra-headed monster of antiquity." Gover-nor Russell declared that if the Crisp headquarters really wanted answers to their questions they would put their candidate on the stump with him in joint discussion where both could ask questions first-hand.

"However," he said, "it would take hree times as many managers as he has with a log chain and a block and tackle to ever drag him to a platform where he would have to face his of-ficial record of favoritism to the jute trust, the international bankers and the power trust and against the wel-fare of the people of Georgia.
"All of these questions asked me by Mr. Crisp's many managers are merely an attempt to obscure the real issues of the campaign and to divert the minds of the people from Mr. Crisp's record." Governor Russell d: "He attempts to claim credit what constructive legislation has

ATTACKS TALMADGE ASKED TO DEBATE KELLE TO DEBATE KELLEY ON STATE ISSUES

John I. Kelley's headquarters in Atlanta Tuesday made public a new challenge to Eugene Talmadge for a joint debate in which Kelley pledged himself to withdraw from the race "if I do not convict you of all the charges I have made to the satisfaction of every unbiased person present."

"In concluding your speech at Greensboro last week," the new challenge said, "you stood with sleeves rolled up, boasting to the crowd what a fearless fighter you were, stating that you had never failed to stand up and tight on any occasion.

"Yet, as soon as your speech was concluded you hit the ground running in order to avoid hearing me discuss your public record. Mr. Hardwick said Mr. Talmadge had also seen fit to criticise him for trying to keep America out of the war. "I most emphatically did, and my only regret is that I was not successful," he said. "If there is a man in Georgia who does not now wish we had kept out of the war, I have not been able to find him."

Citizens of Bryan and adjoining citizens packed the courthouse to hear the speech, and frequently interrupted with loud applause. Prior to the speech, while awaiting the close of the noon court recess, Mr. Hardwick shook hands and renewed old acquaintance with a host of his friends. #### LEVY ON TRUCKS, BUSES SUGGESTED BY JOHN HOLDER

A gross weight tax on freight trucks and a per capita tax on passengers plus a mileage tax over the routes freight and passengers are transported was offered by John N. Holder, candidate for governor, as a solution of the motor carrier problem in a statement from Atlanta Tuesday night in the interest of his candidacy.

night in the interest of his candidacy.

Holder said in order to properly collect this tax there would have to be established inspection posts through which buses and trucks would have to pass. He would have these posts equipped with proper scales and inspectors to collect the tax.

"I believe that such a system," he said, "would produce a revenue to the state of from three to five million dollars per year. I would favor careful regulation of the size of the vehicles, weight and tonnage that might be hauled over these roads and these inspection posts would be charged with the duty of enforcing these laws.

"I submit to you that it would be as reasonable for the state to permit the use by the public of the Western & Atlantic railway for private gain without compensation to the state as for the state to permit such use of its highways paralleling the Western & Atlantic.

"The Western & Atlantic railway produces for the state a revenue of $540,000 a year, without cost of $540,000 a year.

However, he cannot point to a single measure designed to aid the average man offered by him and passed during the score of years he has drawn the handsome salary of a congressman and enjoyed the other financial benefits of the office.

senate, and his friends here told him that Governor Russell's criticism of the tax on electric energy, "since it to be placed on the consumer, had proven a boomerang."

They were referring to his citation of a statement made by Judge Samuel of predatory interests.

Congressman Crisp said that he welcomed the closest scrutiny of his record, adding, "I have not been perfect, but such mistakes as I have made have been honest mistakes and I have no apologies to make for them."

"Among other things, my friends," he said, "Governor Russell has criticized me for voting for the moratorium granted European debtor nations. Our nominee for the presidency, Franklin D. Roosevelt and his running mate—my friend 'Jack' Garner—have both said recently that the republican policies forced the necessity of granting the moratorium. of the people has not permitted them to pay local school taxes and not

"Senators George and Harris voted for it." he added, "and a majority of the members of congress did also. It is a criticism of government which does the man making it no good at a time like this."

IN WASHINGTON TALK
WASHINGTON, Ga., Aug. 2.—
John N. Holder, speaking in the interest of his own candidacy for governor today, directed much of his speech to an attack on Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture.

"The man who has seen fit to say the most unkind, unjust and unfair things against me is Eugene Talmadge," Holder said. "He is the most wonderful man who has lived in my day and generation. He is the only man who has ever been able to be in two places at the same time.

"He was at Louisville, Ky., at the derby—at the expense of the taxpayers—and at the same time he was riding in an automobile between Macon and Savannah at the expense of the taxpayers. Talmadge, the great farmer, is no farmer at all—he owns no farm. He is a lawyer."

In discussing the depressions of effect on the country, this able writer says:

It is safe to say that in five years of the past of the United States we have lived in plenty, with business better than normal, and with business better than normal, and with conditions such as we are told we dare never look forward to again.

Mussolini has always believed in a fundamental importance for a stateman to mental importance for a statesman to possess imagination together with the poetic sense, while "experience will prevent him from being dominated by fantasy."

In his opinion, the present world crisis is essentially the crisis of capitalism. He tells Ludwig somewhat scornfully that he did not march to Rome and shoulder responsibility merely to establish order; he came with a well-defined idea to transform the nation completely, but "I have had to accustom Italians gradually to the changes, for I could not destroy everything, as Russia has done, and start building in the wood. ## Cobras Kill Thousands in India Because The Foolish People Won't Kill Cobras

During the last year of the World War, a press correspondent in China cabled a brief story concerning an epidemic of "pneumonic plague" in one of the little-known inland cities.

The story seemed unimportant and was printed under modest headlines on an inside page. But a few editors with long memories realized its significance, and one of these was bold enough to predict that the Idemic would reap a greater harvest than the enemy's guns. That "pneumonic plague" was the "flu."

America now witnesses the beginning of another plague, more dreadful than influenza, but again the significance of the menace is unrecognized because of great events that fill the public mind.

It will be easier to realize the menace of this new plague if you will magine its beginning in your own community. Suppose that a number of bandits enter a bank in your town and loot its vault. Their leader is unmasked and his face is one not easily forgotten. The president and cashier of the bank, men not easily fooled, observe him closely. It they live, they hope to identify him later.

Some time after the robbery the bandit leader is picked up as a suspect. He has a criminal record. The two bankers recognize him and he held for trial. The other members of the bandit gang are still at large, unknow and unsuspected. From these the two bankers begin to receive threat-

To escape machine guns and bombs, they move with their families to downtown hotel where they are constantly guarded by police. The hotel is a prison which they dare not leave. Their business suffers.

Eventually they ask the authorities to drop the case. The bandit leader is set free. The law turns loose a criminal rather than require two innocent men to commit suicide by testifying against him. Suppose this should happen in your town as it happened in one of our great cities. Suppose you were one of the bandits' victims. Would you testify and invite death? Would you risk the lives of your loved ones to punish a bandit who took your money?

Criminals have learned their power. They know all witnesses can be terrified if a few who disregard threats are killed. With every success

That is the plague that treatens. Nothing less than martial law can ercome it if it isn't stamped out before it spreads. You can't stop an epidemic by feeling indifferent until it reaches your family. (Copyright, 1932, for The Constitution.)

McELREATH SPEAKS TO DEKALB VOTERS

Speaking to an audience of DeKalb county citizens in the court house at Decatur Tuesday night, Walter McElreath, candidate for congress from the fifth district, reiterated his belief that the 18th amendment should be resubmitted to the states; advocated drastic reductions in the cost of government, and denounced the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

McElreath touched only upon the main issues of the campaign, preferring to make his address as brief as possible on account of the warm temperature in the courthouse. With regard to prohibition, he stated:

"I am dry. I do not drink intexicating liquor. I have never spent one cent for liquor since prohibition. I wish that this were a dry nation and I have voted dry every time the issue ever came to a vote. I wish that this country could be relieved from the curse of intoxicating liquor. We live in a country, founded and governed by the masses and that involves the right of the people of America to pass on any question. And if there is a manifest desire to have the people decide the prohibition question for themselves, then we cannot suppress that desire The matter should be submitted back to the people and let them decide what they want to do."

He was a "pitch" man in a doorway. 'How you doin' boy? Heh! Heh! Twee, twee, twee, twa, twa.'

He was humming to himself between snatches of talk. The two wrestlers writhed on his arm as the muscles played. They were tattooed there with their arms gripped. He was demonstrating some sort of knife that would do wonders toward freeing the housewife from slavery in the kitchen; which would make guests gasp with delight at the shape of French fried potatoes the knife would carve out; which would shred cabbage.

And to prove it he did all the things with the knife while women with bundles of groceries looked on, smiling to one another at his fast line of talk. The wrestlers writhed on as the muscles in his big steamfitter's arms played the knife. It didn't seem right, exactly, for them to wrestle and wrestle and wrestle for a cabbage knife and never gain a throw.

"How you doin', boy? Heh! Heh! Twee, twee, twee,, twa, twa."

"And now watch closely. You hold the blade just so-"

There was a quick twist of his wrist and one wrestler almost threw the other but they both straightened up again. And continued their slow twistings. I stayed around a half hour, listening and watching but there were no falls. It seemed a little sad. They'll wrestle there as long as he lives and all they can get

AN OLD SPARTAN CUSTOM.

When the young Spartans were going forth to come back with their shields on them, or standing around nonchalantly permitting a stolen fox, hidden beneath one's cloak, to gnaw one's vitals out rather than admit the theft, the rule was, "To ride, to shoot and to speak the truth."

From that came the pentathlon. It has been modernized, of course, as have our refrigerators, morals and what not. The modern pentathlon calls for a very rugged athlete to go through a most rugged and exacting test.

Each contestant must: 1-Ride cross country against time for a distance of 5,000 meters.

2-Run cross country at 4,000 meters against time. 3-Target shooting with the dueling pistols, 20 rounds, at 25 meters.

4—Fence with the dueling swords.
5—Swim 3,000 meters, free style.

This is the greatest test in the Olympic games. It has always been won by a Finn or a Swede, they seemingly having the most rugged stamina in the exacting events of the pentathlon. Our country has a team selected from the army.

YOU RASCAL YOU.

A grappler, one of the daffy ones who bob up now and then, appeared in a Nashville arena last week. He obtained a grapevine hold on his opponent, slammed him to the floor a few times and then broke into song.

"I'll be glad when you're dead, you rascal you."
All of which, of course, brought down the house.

Scotty MacDougal, who is making hay while the sun shines in California, was wrestling once in Nashville and obtained a grapevine hold after an hour's hot work. As he sat there holding his man safe, a soft-drink boy peered over the edge of the ring.

MacDougal took a bottle of the pause that refreshes from the box, opened it with his teeth, drank most of it and massaged the last bit of it into the scalp of his writhing, swearing oppo-

I don't know if Nashville makes them act any daffier than any other town. But the wrestlers seem to get dizzier there.

CHATTANOOGA LOSES OPPORTUNITY.

When the Memphis Chicks arranged their schedule so that they rested from Monday until Friday of this week, they prethe Chattanooga Lookouts, those furious cha plated opportunity to go ahead.

The Lookouts lost to New Orleans Tuesday and have a couple more games there. They then tangle with the Travelers-all before the Memphis club gets going. But the Lookouts seem to be dallying around with the idea.

It begins to look as if Cousin Joe Engel will have to equip some of his boys with a couple of motors to get them up there. They go home on August 4 for a 14-game home stay. And if that doesn't find them in front then no other week will. The orderly young businessmen who engaged in a little off-day fun have all been sued for a little matter of $10,000 each. Which will not help their play. Engel got small gratitude from his help.

THE BADGE WEARERS.

Mr. Paul Gallico, of the Daily News, comments on the parade of the badge wearers in the Olympic opening:

The comedy relief to the great dramatic sports show was supplied by the A. A. U. officials who marched shead of the team but behind their immense corporations, clad in white pants, blue coats and funny hats. Just why the A. A. U. officials should march in the parade of the athletes of all nations was something no one in the press box was able to understand, but everybody was glad that they did, because they looked so funny. Most of their tummies were too big for their coats and kept lopping over, or showing through. They all looked like something out of opera bouffe as they waddled along very much out of breath and step. Their get-ups were only one degree funnier than the uniforms provided the American athletes, white short-sleeved sweaters and funny berets. My spies in Olympic Village tell me that when the boys had tricked themselves out and looked at one another they all blushed furiously and began mining around with their hands on their hips while the girl athletes whooped at them and called them sissies. Of course there are no sissies among them, but the guy who was responthere are no sissies among them, but the guy who was responsible for their uniforms did his best.

The badge wearers do not seem to be regarded as solemnly as they once were. There are too many of them, for one thing. And they never can answer questions.

The Aces scored five runs in their half of the ninth to get a safe lead but Baxley came back to score three in their half. Dempsey finally got the side out and darkness fell on the wildest game of the tournament thus far. It was the fourth straight game the Aces have won by one run in last inning finishes, two in Atlanta against the Terrors and two here. It remained for the Baxley boys to give them their biggest scare.

The Macon club, one of the tournament's most colorful teams because of its praying second baseman, Floyd Busbee, was forced to go 10 innings to subdue the strong Lindale club, 3 to 2.

Albany traveled 13 innings behind the strong five-hit pitching of young Syd Stapleton to finally emerge triumphant over Gainesville, 7 to 0. # Records Shattered As Stars Run Wild Hampson, Great British Middle Distance Star, Cops 800-Meter Title; Ruth Osborn Breaks Women's Discus Mark; Beard Wins.

By Alan Gould,

Associated Press Sports Editor.

OLYMPIC STADIUM, LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Under another beaming California sun, the world's greatest collection of track and field talent ran wild today in the Olympic championships.

A record-battering jubilee was featured by the 800-meter triumph of Tom Hampson, British school teacher, in the world record time of 1:49.8 and climaxed by four successive record races in the 200-meter quarter finals.

Eddie Tolan and Ralph Metcalfe, the twin American negro thunder-bolts who ran one-two in the sensational 100-meter final yesterday, came back with a combined rush to lower the 200-meter Olympic mark to 21.5

No sooner had a crowd of 45,000 finished cheering these sprint stars, however, than Carlos Luti, Argentine, and Arthur Jonath, of Germany, came along to cover the same route in 21.4 seconds each in the remaining heats, to finish the wreckage of an Olympic record that had stood since 1904.

This fresh outburst of speed forecast further demolition of the record in the semi-finals and final of the 200-meters tomorrow, with the consensus favoring Tolan and Metcalfe to wage the main fight.

Hampson's thrilling victory in the 800 for Great Britain's first Olympic triumph, however, was the day's big-by clouting a healthy four-base drive over the right-field wall in the eighth linning.

Comorosky hammered two of the Pirates' homers, and Paul Waner delivered the other.

By stretching their winning streak to five straight games, the Phils cut the Pittsburgh lead over them to six games with the Chicago Cubs intervening.

For four innings the game was a pitching duel between Jim Elliott and Larry French. Then the pent-up power in the Phillies' bat exploded and the Pirates began walloping Elliott. After that it was a ding-dong affair, with the Phils creeping ahead and the Pirates continually threatening.

Jim Elliott received credit for his second victory of the series, but was rescued by Rhem and Hanson. French was the loser, and was relieved by Harris.

Hurst, who was hit by a pitched ball in yesterday's game, is expected back with the Phils in a day or two. His condition is said to be good.

Hampson not only erased the listed world record of 1:50.6 set by Sera Martin, of France, who was eighth today, but surpassed the unofficial record of 1:50 flat made by Ben Eastman, of Stanford, this year. The former Olympic record of 1:51.8, from which Hampson clipped two full seconds, was set in 1928 by Douglas Lowe, of England, who retired soon afterward from competition. Hampson also plans to quit the track after the pace who was set in 1928 by Douglas Lowe, of England, who retired soon afterward from competition. TWO MORE RECORDS.

Meanwhile the feminine contingent, which has maintained an unbroken record, breaking nece. Surpassed two record-breaking pace, surpassed two more world records and George Saling, Iowa hurdler, equalled the world's record by racing over the 110 meter high sticks in 14.4 seconds in the semi-ficals finals.

Altogether, after three days of astonishing competition, new Olympic records have been set in no less than 11 of the 15 track and field events for and women.

The feminine stars have shattered three world records while the men have broken one and equalled three other world marks. The only events so far in which no records have fallen are the hammer throw, broad jump and high jump.

The women's world record in the discus throw twice was surpassed before Lillian Copeland, American girl from Los Angeles, got off the decisive throw of 133 feet 2 inches. This enabled her to beat Ruth Osburn, of Shelbyville, Mo., who had previously set a record of 131 feet, 8 inches.

Stella Walsh, the Polish girl who lives in Cleveland, touched world record time for the third time in two days when she won the women's 100-meter championship in 11.9 seconds. This was her time for each of two races yesterday.

After Jack Keller, of Ohio States that After Jack Keller, of Ohio State, had skimmed the 110-meter barriers in 14.5 seconds for a new Olympic record, Saling came right back, in the second semi-final, to nose out his team mate, Percy Beard, in 14.4, taking another slice off the Olympic mark besides touching the world record held jointly by two Scandinavians, Weddstrom, of Sweden, and Sjostedt, of Finland.

Finland.

Siostedt was eliminated in the semifinals, finishing fifth in the race won by Keller.

The U. S. A. won its third men's championship when Edward Gordon, Iowa negro, came through with the best leap in the broad jump, 25 feet
3-4 inch, with his teammate, Lambert
Reed, second, and Dick Barber, Southern Californian, fifth.

BIG SURPRISE

BIG SURPRISE. The big surprise was the defeat of the two men who have held world records and cleared 26 feet. The pres-records and cleared 26 feet. The present world record holder, Chuhei Nambu, of Japan, was third. Sylvio Cator, of Haiti, did not qualify among the six finalists.

The trials in the 200-meter dash

The trials in the 200-meter dash were just a breeze, in the first round, for the American trio, including Eddie Tolan, 'new 100-meter champion; Ralph Melcalfe and George Simpson. Most of the entries, apparently seeing the handwriting on the wall, withdrew.

They included Percy Williams, of Canada, 1928 champion. Williams pulled a muscle in the 100-meter semifinal in which he was eliminated yesterday. with eight of the men's Olympic track and field championship events completed, the United States had piled

Cowart Man of Hour At Norman College

Heavyweight Coach Establishes World's Record for Playing Football Games Last Fall.

ALBANY, Ga., Aug. 2.—Mr. Ike Cowart, the 300-pound football coach at Norman Junior College, Norman Park, Ga., is quite a fellow down here in these diggin's since he set the world's record for playing football games last fall.

Mr. Cowart didn't play the games—he's about 150 pounds over-weight now—but his team did and they played four of them in nine days, traveling around 2,000 miles to do it.

It all came about this way. Every year, it seems, Coach Cowart takes his football team on a trip to Cuba. Instead of offering inducements to athletes, he merely takes them on the Cuban trip and has no ments to athletes, he merely takes them on the Cuban trip and has trouble whatever getting boys to come to his school to play football.

On a Wednesday last fail, Cowarte took his team to Americus for the centennial celebration there and defeated Bowdon State College, 12 to 6.

He and his boys took a train for Key West, Fla., that same night, sailed for Cuba and on the following Saturday defented the A. D. C. Club of Havana, 25 to 0.

On Tuesday, the Cowart eleven engaged the Cuban Athletic Club and beat that outfit, 7 to 0.

They then beat it back to Miami, where on Friday night, the Normun team played and won over Miami University, 19 to 9.

To make the feat more stupenduous. Coach Cowart earried only 15 players on the trip. Not a single injury was recorded in the four games. Now they are calling .Cowart "The Rockne of the Cane Brakes."

Cowart and Tubby Walton are umpring the sandlot games here and they're nothing short of a riot. They also are involved in a heetic eating contest. Walton at the moment is one leg o' lamb and a dozen biscuits ahead in the grastronomic tilt.

After seeing Walton quickly devour a half dozen ears of corn on the coh, a dozen muffins and four helpings of legumes, the chels at the New Albany botel, where Walton is stopping, were left speechless.

Walton dumbfounded the crowd in his first appearance as umpire on Monday (a warm day) by suddenly should be suffered by the suddenly should be subjected to the cake for being the fourney's most s persitious team.

Walton dumbfounded the crowd in his first appearance as umpire on Monday (a warm day) by suddenly halting the game mid-inning and drinking two big bottles of soda pop without missing a gurgle. He then nonchalantly tossed the emptied bottles aside and yelled "play ball!"

He and Cowart will run a foot race before the tourney is over—provided they are able.

The DeKalb Barons from Decatur have taken the cake for being the tourney's most spersitious team. Their mascot carries a rabbit's foot in his pocket which he uses "to put the stinger on the opposition."

South made the correst Approach bid of one heart, and Commander Howe studied his holdings. A Double for a Takeout, he reasoned, would lead nowhere, as he must eventually bid the hearts anyhow, even though South should happen to hold all of the outstanding hearts. He, therefore, followed with a snappy four heart Overcall, and North and East passed in turn, while South, who had no other suggestion as to a trump suit in reserve, felt that his Ace-King of clubs and Ace of diamonds should count for 3 defensive tricks, and certainly the Ace of hearts would be another. He, therefore, doubled, and the contracting was ended.

Tony flushed, indignant at the unjust attack.

There was sardonic humor in the host's smile when Tony and Lee drew back, involuntarily, from the atmosphere of herrific phantasy.

Tony did not like the other guests. They were subtle, unnatural, like the house itself.

One of the women guests, with a cloud of fiery red hair, a revealing black gown, and rouged red toes peeping through dull gold sandals sulked in a chair. She barely parted her lips to acknowledge the introductions. Tony did not hear her utter a word all evening. She simply lolled in the chair, sipping wine and staring into space. Tony went on stowing garments in her bag.

"Why should I get strangled?" Lee wanted to know. "Say, this game might be on the level."

"Non, non, non," the count was profuse. "It is that we make the game. The victim, she must be beautiful. For that we choose you, mademoiselle." The count was no fool. He knew what brought women to surrender. Lee did, with a triumphant glance for Selden.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(P)—Stocks backed up in more pronounced fashion today.

Profit-taking met less resistance from new buying, although there was nothing to suggest that the decline represented more than the appearance of a technical setback after a fortnight of almost steady advance.

Comment on steel perations by "American Metal Market" noted "the remarkable change" in sentiment among buyers and sellers. August, it said, is expected to show slightly heavier output than July.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The market sold off to net losses of 19 to 23 points today but in the late trading rallied to leave final prices 12 to 18 points net lower. While there was moderate selling by Liverpool, the south and local professionals, most of the pressure came from New Orleans and from brokers frequently handling business for co-operatives. Domestic and continental spinners were the principal buyers though there was some short covering in the latter part of the session. Relatively poor cables, the reactionary trend of securities, the weakness of grain apd the decline in rubber were developments contributing. While we would not be surprised to see some further liquidation, prefer the constructive side, especially on recessions. DORBE 4: OG.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Indications of price instability which began developing Saturday and which continued yesterday, resolved themselves into a sharply defined reactionary movement today. Action of the market was disappointing in that support orders which had previously been presumed to be present just below the market in sufficient volume to hold any reaction to moderate trading proportions failed to materialize in volatile leaders though secondary issues whose recent advances had been less spectacular showed a greater degree of steadiness. The disappointment stimulated by today's action should bring further sell-

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 2,—(P)—
Cotton was fairly active today but at lower price levels. Unfavorable cables, hedge selling against the movement of ATLANTA.

Cotton was fairly active today but at lower price levels. Unfavorable cables, hedge selling against the movement of new crop in Texas and weakness in stocks and wheat were the main causes of the decline which carried prices off 20 points from the previous close. There was a rally of 7 points near the end and the close was steady at net decline for the day 6 2 to 13 points.

The market opened casier as Liverpool cables came in lower than due by 5 to 7 penny points. Private cables stated that there was hedge selling and also selling on the weak showing of Alexandria, Egypt. Manchester cabled that cloths and yarns were quiet owing to the holiday feeling.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 3 penny points down.

The first new crop bale to reach New Orleans arrived today from Magnolia, Miss., and will be sold at auction tomorrow.

FIRST FISCAL MONTH $263,290,620 IN RED

WASHINGTON. Aug. 2.—(P)—Ending the first month of the new fiscal year with a deficit of $263,290,620, government officials today looked to the first flow of miscellaneous revenue from the new billion dollar tax bill to reduce the shortage.

The first returns under the new revenue act were due yesterday and soon will begin to trickle into the treasury. They will not be large at first for they will cover only the last nine days of June.

Under the law the tax collected by manufacturers, banks and other agencies must be reported to the internal revenue bureau by the end of the month following that in which it is received by them. The first full month's payment will ot be received until September 1, when the tages for July come in.

The deficit for July, while $62,000,000 larger than for the same month last year, contained some bright spots.

One reason for the increase was $100,000,000 devoted to the veterans' bonus fund.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—L. M. Brown, chairman of the readjustment managers of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway, Company, today expressed confidence that the road's financial plan would be successfully carried out, but said that prompt action on the part of security holders who have not yet assented was essential. The time for deposit of securities expires August 15. The management reported that holders of, substantial amounts of bonds and stocks of all classes had agreed to the plan.

Heavy selling of wheat came from eastern sources, and buying power was scanty.

setback today, the first important interruption of its advance in a fortnight.

Speculators for the rise were encouraged by the fact there seemed to be nothing in the sell-off to indicate it was of more than a technical nature. The turnover dwindled to 130,000 shares, off 40,000 from yesterday.

Utilities bore the brunt of the selling. Electric Bond and Share, American Gas and Electric, and Niagara Hudson all declined about a point. Commonwealth Edison closed unchanged. The stock has been firm, with the $18,000,000 5 1-2 per cent bond issue at hand. Duke Power rose 1 1-4 points in a small turnover.

In the coppers, Newmont closed at 11. Oils yielded but slightly, save for Gulf, which got down a full point. Industrials were irregularly lower. Ford, Ltd., was an isolated firm spot, closing up 1.4 at 3, 3-4

Mrs. Caraway, slight and smiling, brought the farm board into the discussion when she said that some of President Hoover's appointees to the board, on whom the senate agriculture committee had to "ass, described themselves as "dirt farmers," but were chiefly distinguished by the "high polish of their manicures."

"We hear a lot about taking Mrs. Caraway out of the senate because a woman has no business there." Long said. importers tonight in an effort to persuade the ministry of agriculture to change the quota established on importation of American apples.

The ministry had decided there would be no American apples imported during August and the American imports in September would be limited to 12 car loadings.

Last year the American quota was 15 car loads in August and 100 in September. The reduction was made on the basis of the average for the last three years, the ministry said.

American importers said the ruling was unfair.

lan adopted. Frank L. Morrison, secretary of Frank I. Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, expressed hope of the conference for which labor has agitated for a long time. He said industry generally seems to be in a more receptive frame of mind to adopt the shorter working hour reform for which labor is cam-

Morrison declared. It is the only effective plan to put everybody to work."

President Hoover plans to confer with leaders of business, industry and labor from all parts of the country before calling the national conference here. He conferred yesterday with representatives of the New England council, who suggested the national conference and who laid before the chief executive the so-called "New Hampshire plan" for reducing the hours of work, including the five-day week. President William Green, of the Federation of Labor, is expected to see the president when he returns here Thursday.

Morrison said he has not studied the New Hampshire plan, which calls for contributions of those now employed and from dividends to provide wages and salaries for 10 per cent more workers. It envisages addition of 3,000,000 more to the ranks of the employed.

Some experts who have studied the Sew Hampshire plan point out as a ikely weakness the provision for conributions from those now employed. Some insist that the owners of industry must institute the five-day week and take on additional employes without reducing wages and take less profits. The provision that the employed must pay for salaries of additional workers is a part of all of the reduced working hour plans now being studied by administration officials.

"Just a social call," said Curley, who headed the unsuccessful Roosevelt drive for Massachusetts' national convention votes. Boston had reported Curley hurried to Albany after an early morning call from Mr. Roose-The governor, however, said Curley

The governor, however, said Curley had had an engagement for two weeks. After an inner-office chat with his party's candidate, Curley continued on to New York to visit James A. Farley, national chairman.

Following Ely's indorsement of I Roosevelt last week there has been speculation as to what part, if any, Curley would take in the campaign. The question remained unanswered after today's conference between Mayor Curley and Governor Roosevelt.

Other Visitors.

Other Visitors.

Mr. Roosevelt had a long list of visitors today, but none of them has figured prominently in national affairs, or has been identified with the campaign this year.

A delegation from Chicago was made up of Abraham Szlitsky, Frank Novotny, the mayor of Berwyn, a Chicago suburb: State Senator Frank Ryan, Joseph Preston and Walter Meyer, former assessor of Cook county.

Other visitors were Summer Wells. formerly in the state department, and A. A. Johnson, who has been doing agricultural work in Russia.

Previous to Mr. Curley's visit. Mr. Roosevelt was busy studying "railroading" in preparation of a campaign speech on the subject, supposedly the Columbus (Ohio) address. Mr. Roosevelt believes the financial troubles of the railroads are one of the country's major problems.

Conferences Pending.

Ahead of the governor lie a series of conferences on the railroad problem, first with rail executives and then with the heads of the great rail unions.

Mr. Roosevelt considers the railwith the heads of the great rail unions.

Mr. Roosevelt considers the railroad question one of the most important with which he would have to deal should he be elected president.
It is known that he considers the Hoover administration's handling of the problem as unsound and even bordering on the radical. He objects particularly, persons close to him have said, to federal financing of the roads.

He has already conferred with Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio; Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, and with W.
Averill Harriman, Union Pacific and Illinois Central executive.

Mr. Roosevelt and Willard conferred

Mr. Roosevelt and Willard conferred yesterday. Later the governor took up the unemployment problem anew, this time with John Sullivan, president of the New York Federation of Labor. The governor indicated he believed one step toward reducing unemployment was cutting the hours of labor.

He snid, "I believe that employers, wherever possible, should reduce the nours of labor and stagger employment so as to provide work for the industrial stages."

He added reduction of the number of hours of labor per week seemed to

This ends the argument!

Next time you listen to an argument as to which is the best cigarette, you can chip in with something more than an opinion.

You won't have to say: "I think the tobacco in OLD GOLD is purer and finer." Instead, you can say: "I KNOW OLD GOLD is better; it's made of finest natural flavored tobacco. Science has proved it!"

As surely as Science can assay pure gold, so it can tell which cigarette is basically the choicest. It did that with 4 leading brands. It made 75 tests of 4 competing cigarettes . . . and found the smoke of an OLD GOLD definitely cooler ... indicating its superior tobacco quality and purity.

"Coolness" is the clue to cigarette quality. Only the finest and purest tobacco burns "cool." That's the tobacco in OLD GOLDS. The free of heat-making flavorings.
